CLINICAL CORRELATION:

HEADACHE Date: January 28, 2019 9:30am

Reading Assignment: Refer to posted handout

KEY CONCEPTS AND LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Describe the clinical features of migraine, including the aura, photophobia and phonophobia. Recognize that female gender and positive family history are risk factors for migraine, which begins early in adult life.

2. Describe the clinical features of cluster headache. Recognize that male gender is a risk factor for cluster headache.

3. List the abortive and prophylactic treatments for migraine. Recognize that several chemically unrelated drugs here have therapeutic effects on serotonin receptors.

4. Describe the clinical features of tension headache and treatments for it.

5. Explain why headaches occur after lumbar puncture (traction headaches), from pseudotumor cerebri, or in temporal arteritis.
